

B2001 Information Technology Management

B2001 © Peter Lo 2007

1

Who am I?

Lo Chi Wing, Peter

■ Email: Peter@Peter-Lo.com

B2001 © Peter Lo 2007

2

Syllabus

Concept of Information Systems in Organisation	10%
Strategic Role of Information Systems	15%
Systems Development Methodology and Tools	15%
Implementation Of Information Systems, Organisational, Technical and Managerial Issues	10%
Business Transaction Processing Systems and Links With Information Reporting Systems and Executive Information System	10%
Decision Support Systems	10%
End User Computing and Office Automation	15%
Hardware, Software and Telecommunication Issues	15%

B2001 © Peter Lo 2007

3

Assessment

■ Assessment

Assignment	50%
Examination	50%

Total: 100%

■ Study Approach

Lecture	22 hours
Self study (including Coursework)	78 hours

Total: 100 hours

B2001 © Peter Lo 2007

4

Do and Don't

- Do not turn on your mobile, pager or any form of alarm that will distract your fellow classmates.
- Do not make any unnecessary noise unless you have just found out you won a Mark Six!
- Do turn up on time to avoid unnecessary distraction.
- Do exchange ideas and discussions on assignments but NOT copying. You are here to LEARN not copy. You will be severely dealt with if caught cheating under the university disciplinary action.
- Do enjoy and learn from the course.

References

- Charles Parker & Thomas Case, "Management Information Systems: Strategy and Action", McGraw-Hill.
- <http://www.Peter-Lo.com/Teaching/B2001>